COLOMBO: Almost 10,000 kg of explosives, detonators and steel balls of Indian-make were found from hidden arsenal of the LTTE in the past three years, reported the The Island daily on Saturday.

Among the other significant weapons seized by the Sri Lankan armed forces and the police are nine 133 mm, seven 152 mm, and six 122 mm artillery pieces; 42 thermobaric weapons; 24, four-barreled 14.5 mm anti-aircraft guns; 91, 12.7 mm anti-aircraft guns; 113,240 T-56 assault rifles; 54, 120 mm mortars; three, six barrel rocket launchers; 11 surface to air missiles; 8 recoilless weapon; 45 rocket launchers; 38, 82 mm mortars; 479, 60 mm mortars; 130 81 mm mortars; 579 rocket propelled grenades; 210, 40 mm grenade launchers; and 14 missile launchers.

The LTTE was probably planning a massive offensive against the Sri Lankan armed forces if the latter had failed to capture the LTTE's capital of Kilinochchi, an army official said.
